Who should get a mammogram?

Nearly 1 in 8 U.S. women (about 12%) will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of their lifetime and most show no symptoms before being diagnosed. The American Cancer Society recommends yearly mammograms for women ages 40 and older.

The South Dakota State Employee Benefits Program covers mammograms as preventive care, which means it is covered at 100% regardless if you've met your annual deductible. One baseline mammogram is covered by the health plan between the ages of 35-39, and yearly mammogram screenings are covered at 100% for women 40 and older. Undergoing annual screenings is the best way to detect any early signs of breast cancer.

Your benefIT well-being Program:

Walk Walk Walk!

You don't need a home fitness machine or an expensive gym membership to steer your health in the right direction. Walking is one of the easiest ways to increase your physical activity. A brisk walk can reduce stress, boost energy, and help maintain a healthy weight. According to the American Heart Association walking can reduce the risk of developing chronic conditions such as type 2 diabetes, heart disease, osteoporosis, and breast and colon cancer.

Walking is the single most recommended form of exercise and the one we are likely to engage in most often. Because there are so many ways to walk – fast or slow, up a hill, down a sidewalk, on a path, at the mall, in the hall, or off on a trail – and so many levels of intensity, it's easy to tailor a walking habit that fits your personal physical activity goals.

Walking with your friends, family, pets, or co-workers makes walking (and exercising in general) easier, something we can look forward to, and something that we will do more regularly. Start with just 20-30 minutes a day with these ideas for getting started.

Need to motivation to get moving? Join the Million Steps Challenge and invite a co-worker for some friendly competition and support. You can sync your tracking device or log your active time manually and earn wellness points for reaching one, two, or three million steps!

Is a birth certificate all I need to verify my child for the Spouse and Dependent Eligibility audit?

If a mother is or has been married, a birth certificate for their dependent child from South Dakota or another state that only shows the mother's maiden name may not be enough to prove the relationship. Proof of relationship will be required in addition to birth certificates, such as a marriage certificate that shows the mother's married name or a redacted tax return that lists parents and dependents.

Additional information can be found at <https://benefits.sd.gov/spouseanddependentaudit.aspx>.

What do I do if I'm covered by Medicare because of a disability and need a Part D credible coverage notice?

Letters were sent out to individuals who are 65+ and receiving prescription drug coverage under the South Dakota State Employee Health Plan in early October. BHR does not have the necessary information to identify members who are covered by Medicare because of a disability. If you need a letter due to a disability, please contact the South Dakota Employee Benefits office by calling 605.773.3148 to receive a personalized Part D credible coverage notice. This is the only notification you will receive.
